in the Eighteenth Ward.

'aval Officer Theodore B. Willis and Innai Revenue Collector Ernst Nathan rerned to Brooklyn to-day from Washington, hither they both went by a strange coincience on the same day.

Messrs Willis and Nathan are leaders of the opposing factions in the local Republican ranks, and recently engaged in a bitter struggle for the leadership of the machine.

The rumor went forth a few days ago that Secretary Tracy had at last taken a hand in the fight, and although it was strenuously denied by members of both factions the story obtained ; artial corroboration in the removal of George E. England from his position in the Construction Department of the Navy-Yard. Mr. England is a delegate to the General Committee from the Eighteenth Ward, is Assist-ant Secretary of that body, and in the recent fight for delegates worked with the Nathan

They did find them, however, and pounded with their locusis.

A door was thrown open and a woman in white appeared, half dazed, and immediately a man came to view.

"Hurry for your life," shouted Donohue.

"The place is aire!"

At the foot of the stairs Officer Rooney asked:

The officer rushed upstairs again, while the other policeman assisted the two rescued ones to the hotel. The door to the boarder's bedroom was locked on the linside. Rooney licked in the door and found the young man halt unconscious from inhalling smoke and too dazed to realize his peril. He was also taken to the hotel.

Mrs. H. NcCruden occupied apartments on the second floor. Her brother, Rev. Mr. Mc-leod and Oscar Powier boarded with her. Mrs. McCruden has been doing the laundry work for Abel Easten's Turkish bath rooms, located in the basement. On the second floor was a room used for a drying apartment. The Turkish towels were dried nece, by means of a furnace. The towels must have fallen against the heated atove and started a blaze.
